Who we are. Since 1937, the Mississippi Poultry Association has provided an umbrella of organizational support for the poultry industry in Mississippi. What began with backyard flocks to meet individual families' egg and meat needs is now the state's largest agri-business industry with over six billion dollars of annual economic impact in Mississippi.

Where we come from. Though our industry does come from humble beginnings, we also claim the pioneers who revolutionized the modern poultry industry. These men of vision saw needs and created new means of filling those needs. Along the way, they also saw a common need. They realized that the poultry industry needed to speak with a common voice in areas of mutual concern.

Where we are going. The poultry industry continues to undergo dramatic change and growth. The industry has met the challenges of issues related to poultry health and technology in the past. As groups opposed to animal agriculture become more vocal and active, it is important that everyone with a stake in the poultry industry join together to meet these challenges.

Where you come in. MPA's allied members have always been an important part of the Association's success in building a stronger poultry industry. Because poultry is your business too, MPA invites you to become an allied member.

Our allied members. Allied members consist of individuals, firms, partnerships and corporations which provide and market to company members those goods and services that are related to the poultry industry. Our "Allies" are valued members of the Mississippi Poultry Association. Allied members participate in a variety of association activities including the MPA Poultry Management School and our annual convention. As an allied member, you are among good company. Our current larger members include:

- Cal-Maine Foods, Inc.
- Marshall Durbin, Inc.
- Peco Farms, Inc.
- Sanderson Farms, Inc.
- Southern Hens, Inc.
- Tyson Foods, Inc.
- Wayne Farms, LLC

...and hundreds of grower members!

How you benefit. The benefits of becoming an allied member of MPA include:

- Notices and members' rates to the annual convention and MPA Poultry Management School.
- A subscription to the MPA quarterly newsletter, Emerging Trends, and reduced advertising rates.
- Reports of MPA's advocacy activities for your business before the State Legislature, Congress and regulatory agencies such as the Department of Environmental Quality and the Department of Revenue.
- Notices of meetings and seminars geared to the poultry industry.
- Opportunity to serve on MPA Committees and Board of Directors.
- Ability to contact growers through Association mailers.
